Local Government Meeting

Paper Guidelines

Due October 21, 2015

Assignment:

Write a 2 page, double-spaced report, in MLA format, of your first-hand observations of a local government meeting.

Examples of appropriate governmental bodies include:

- ❖ a city council/commission meeting
- ❖ a meeting of the county commissioners court
- ❖ a zoning or planning commission meeting
- ❖ a school board meeting
- ❖ a meeting of the board of regents of a public university or community college
- ❖ a meeting of the hospital district
- ❖ a meeting of the water district

The following meetings are not appropriate:

- ❖ Any meeting that was held prior to August 17, 2015

If you have any questions about a meeting you would like to attend, please ask me before you attend.

Plan ahead. Many local government meetings occur only once or twice a month. You can usually find information about local meetings in your local newspaper. You can also call a local government and find out when the meetings are and where they are held.

The ideal report includes a record of all verbal and nonverbal interactions among all persons present, does not have spelling or grammatical errors, and includes among others, the following items:

- the time, date, and place of your fieldwork
- A description of the physical layout of the room or meeting place and the presence of any political symbols such as flags, seals, etc.
- information on all formal decisions and the procedures, if any, that were followed
- A summary of all statements made by the speakers, noting their attitude or ideology and their tone (i.e., formal, hostile, liberal, conservative, etc.)
- information on the speakers' personal behaviors and styles (appearance, age, race, and gender)
- a summary of any actions taken and the procedures, if any, that were followed to reach a decision
- an analysis of the range of decisions made, the kind of language used, references to political groups, the requirements of the law, or to other governmental bodies, and the appearance of consensus or discord
- a comparison of the observation to class material and related resources
- a comparison of the different governmental bodies observed by the group members (this is REAL political science)
- a general critique of the observed activity's overall political or policy implications (for example, did the observed officials represent or act on behalf of the general public or on behalf of a particular group, did they take into account the speaker's presentation or did they ignore it?)

Group Project Presentation Guidelines

Due November 16&18, 2015

Group: 3-4 people

Topic:

Each group will be required to create a campaign. Your campaigns focus is to promote an issue that is important to the development of the Imperial Valley. You are required to create a campaign add along with a campaign speech to persuade your audience on the issue at hand. Each member of your group will be required to participate, for you will be presenting your campaign to the class. Remember, this is a group presentation; everyone involved will receive the same grade. It is your responsibility to make sure you make adequate arrangements to meet and work on your presentation for the best grade possible.

Along with your campaign presentation, each group will hand in a one page, double spaced outline of their research on the topic as well as a brief reflection of why their topic of choice is important to the Imperial Valley.
