Course Description

The class focuses on the relationship of theatre to various cultures throughout history and on the contributions of significant individual artists. This course introduces students to elements of the production process including playwrighting, acting, directing, design, and criticism. Students will also survey different periods, styles, and genres of theatre through play reading, discussion, films, and viewing and critiquing live theatre.

Course Prerequisite(s) and/or Corequisite(s)

There is no specific Prerequisite for Theatre 100, however the following information is helpful.

- College level theatre courses quite different from high school theatre courses.
- College level theatre courses are not easy. Look over the Student Learning Outcomes and the Course Objectives in this syllabus. Look at the table of contents in the textbook.
- You will need to purchase the required books.
- You will need to take notes. You will also want to take notes on the assigned textbook chapters as you read them. Flash cards are useful. Use these study techniques, and you will find the quizzes and tests are not difficult.
- You will want to do all assignments. Due to the amount of material covered each week, missing assignments means not understanding a reference from a past week in a future lesson.
- At the end of the semester, you will have seen a number of plays, written an essay critiquing a performance, essays comparing different productions of a single play, designed a stage set, and designed costumes. You will understand theater terms such as wings, the grand drape, and aside. You will have learned a great deal about theater.

Work Base Learning or How does this course benefit your future employment?

Most people watch a movie, TV show, or a play, and all they see are the actors. The real jobs employing hundreds of people for any single movie, TV show, or play are backstage or business positions. This course will show you the how and why of theatre jobs. You will see that theatre requires carpenters, electricians, painters, make-up artists, tailors, designers, accountants, publicists, sound technicians, people to shop and take costumes to be dry cleaned. Without people in these job, there is no theatre.

Student Learning Outcomes

Upon course completion, the successful student will have acquired new skills, knowledge, and or attitudes as demonstrated by being able to:

1. Students will evidence a satisfactory level of knowledge of theatre history (Greek, Roman, Medieval, Elizabethan, 17th Century France, Melodrama, Realism, and Non-realism) through objective examination.
2. Students will evidence a satisfactory level of awareness of theatre production processes through specific projects in Playwriting, Acting, and Design.
3. Students will demonstrate a familiarity with performance theory related to Acting and Directing.

Course Objectives

Upon satisfactory completion of the course, students will be able to:

1. Analyze and evaluate the nature of theatre and its role in society.
2. Assess the historical, artistic, social, and philosophical contexts in which theatre exists.
3. Critically analyze dramatic literature and performances.
4. Identify and examine theatrical components in production.
5. Propose alternative solutions to theatrical production situations.
6. Appreciate viewing theatre as an art form.

Textbooks & Other Resources or Links

The following are required: (Used copies or e-books are available.)

- Another Opening, Another Show 3rd Edition by Tom Markus, Linda Sarver, Frank Kuhn. Published by Waveland Press, Inc. ISBN: 978-1-4786-3727-1
- Lend Me a Tenor Playwright: Ken Ludwig: 1st edition; ISBN: 978-0-5736-9121-8 (This is a play script, and the print version is required.)

Course Requirements and Instructional Methods

- To pass this class, it is important to complete all assignments.
- If you have problems – communicate via Canvas messaging.
- Each assignment must be completed by its due date.
- Unfortunately, assignments, quizzes, and tests cannot be rearranged due to a student’s work schedule. If your time for classwork is limited due to a heavy work schedule, it is wise to reconsider how many classes you can handle in a single semester.
- Remote Proctoring
 - Quizzes, tests, and exams are timed and proctored remotely.
 - Remote proctoring picks up and records papers being shuffled and pages being turned.
 - Remote proctoring records voices. (Turn off your phone.)
 - Closing or exiting a quiz, test, or exam means the student is finished with the quiz, test, or exam. The quiz, test, or exam will not reopen.
 - There is no extra credit.
- Assignments:
 - Assignments are due by the submission date, usually 11:59 pm on the last day to

- submit.
- Submission windows are open for a specific length of time, often 5 or 6 days - announced in advance.
- Late submissions outside of a grace period are not accepted.
- Each student is entitled to ONE late assignment without penalty. (Grace Period.)
- Emailed assignments are not accepted.
- Internet connectivity difficulties are not a valid excuse when the student has waited until the last few hours to submit an assignment.
- There is no extra credit.
- Essays and Weekly Assignments:
 - English 110(College Level) standards are required.
 - Limited, if any, punctuation, grammar, or usage errors.
 - Essays require academic organization: intro, body, conclusion
 - Proper research when needed with citations
 - MLA format is required.
 - If you are unfamiliar with or need to review the requirements for college level essays utilize the tutoring options shown in the grey menu bar.
 - A 12-hour grace period with a 15% penalty is available for essays. This is built into the software.
 - Essays are submitted electronically and checked by Canvas for plagiarism.
 - Assignments must follow instructions to avoid a grade penalty.
 - If lists are requested, the assignment must be formatted with one item per line.
 - If paragraphs are required, the assignment must be formatted with one item per paragraph.
- The Grace Period:
 - The grace period for submitting essays and ONE weekly assignment is to accommodate unforeseen and unexpected time management problems.
 - To use your ONE grace period for a weekly assignment, message Mrs. Rowley.
 - Submitting well in advance of submission due dates is advised as this allows for...
 - Internet connectivity problems to be solved before the submission window closes.
 - time to contact Mrs. Rowley or a tutor should a student have difficulty or need clarification with any aspect of an assignment.
 - contacting Mrs. Rowley before the assignment due date should a student become too ill to complete an assignment.
- Tests:
 - Tests are proctored remotely.
 - Tests are open for a specific length of time, often 5 or 6 days. This is announced in advance.
 - If a test is missed, it is missed. There are no makeups since the tests are open for more than one day at a time.
 - Internet connectivity difficulties are not a valid excuse when the student has waited until the last few hours to take a test.
- Projects, Presentations, and Essays:
 - Projects and Presentations are due on the date assigned. (No exceptions. Late projects and presentations are not accepted.)

- Online: Projects and presentations are self-videoed with a cell phone and uploaded into Canvas.
- All essays must be typed and submitted electronically through Canvas.
- The Canvas submission windows are open for an announced number of days, closing at
- Quizzes:
 - Quizzes are given to ensure that students are reading assigned material. These quizzes are easy! If you do your reading, you should receive an A on this part of your grade.
 - Missed quizzes cannot be made up.
 - The lowest quiz score is automatically dropped by the Canvas software.
 - Quizzes are proctored remotely.
 - Quizzes are open for a specific length of time, often 5 or 6 days. This is announced in advance.
 - A quiz may be expected every week.
- Grades will be available in Canvas 24/7. However, quizzes or tests that need to be read by a human may not be graded immediately. Mrs. Rowley's Hogwarts' wand occasionally needs rest and recharging.

Department of Education Policy

Out of Class Assignments: The Department of Education policy states that one (1) credit hour is the amount of student work that reasonably approximates not less than one hour of class time and two (2) hours of out-of-class time for each hour in class per week over the span of a semester. Introduction to Theater is a 3-credit class. This means 3 hours a week spent in class and 6 hours a week out of class reading, studying assigned material, and completing assignments for a total of 9 hours. Western Association of Schools and Colleges, the accrediting commission for schools in California has adopted a similar requirement.

Course Grading Based on Course Objectives

- Grades are weighted as follows:
 - Mid-Term – 25%
 - Final – 25%
 - Quizzes & Discussion – 10%
 - Tests – 20%
 - Weekly Play Assignments Including essays– 10%
 - Projects – 10%
- Software generated grade reports are available in Canvas 24/7.
- Note the grades are percentages not points.
- You are responsible for keeping track of your class grade average and the drop deadline.
- Avoid waiting until the end of the semester to discuss any grading issue.
- There is no extra credit.
- Emailed assignments are not accepted. Assignments must be submitted in the posted Canvas submission areas.
- Assignments can be discussed and re-explained in detail. Utilize Online Tutoring and IVC Tutoring. (See grey menu bar.)

- Canvas software records the date and amount of time a student spends on a class site. Submission dates are also recorded.
- Canvas allows essays to be resubmitted. If an assignment is submitted on Wednesday, and on Friday you want to submit an updated and improve version of the assignment, Canvas will allow this without difficulty as long as the submission window has not closed. There is no penalty for this. The latest submission will be graded.

Why have tests, quizzes, presentations, projects, essays, and exams in a theatre class?

- These academic challenges show you, and me, what you have learned.
- Because this class focuses on providing new and detailed information about theater, you will be learning a variety of new ideas and concepts of which the average person is unaware.
- You will need to add to your knowledge of theater every week remembering what you have read and what has been presented in class.
- Therefore, it is essential to keep up with the class readings and assignments as well as reviewing past material on a regular basis.
- Tests, quizzes, essays, projects, and exams will prove to you and to me that you have learned and understand the various aspects of theater required by the Theater 100 curriculum.

Course Policies

- A student who fails to attend the first meeting of a class or does not complete the first mandatory activity of an online class will be dropped by the instructor as of the first official meeting of that class. Should readmission be desired, the student's status will be the same as that of any other student who desires to add a class. It is the student's responsibility to drop or officially withdraw from the class. See General Catalog for details.
- Regular attendance in all classes is expected of all students. A student whose continuous, unexcused absences exceed the number of hours the class is scheduled to meet per week may be dropped. For online courses, students who fail to complete required activities for two consecutive weeks may be considered to have excessive absences and may be dropped.
 - Absences attributed to the representation of the college at officially approved events (conferences, contests, and field trips) will be counted as 'excused' absences.

What does it mean to "attend" an online class?

Attendance is critical to student success and for IVC to use federal aid funds. Acceptable indications of attendance are:

- Student submission of an academic assignment
- Student submission of an exam
- Student participation in an instructor-led Zoom conference
- Documented student interaction with class postings, such as an interactive tutorial or computer-assisted instruction via modules

- A posting by the student showing the student's participation in an assignment created by the instructor
 - A posting by the student in a discussion forum showing the student's participation in an online discussion about academic matters
 - An email from the student or other documentation showing that the student has initiated contact with a faculty member to ask a question about an academic subject studied in the course.

Logging onto Canvas alone is NOT adequate to demonstrate academic attendance by the student.

Academic Honesty:

Academic honesty in the advancement of knowledge requires that all students and instructors respect the integrity of one another's work and recognize the important of acknowledging and safeguarding intellectual property.

There are many different forms of academic dishonesty. The following kinds of honesty violations and their definitions are not meant to be exhaustive. Rather, they are intended to serve as examples of unacceptable academic conduct.

- Plagiarism is taking and presenting as one's own the writings or ideas of others, without citing the source. You should understand the concept of plagiarism and keep it in mind when taking exams and preparing written materials. If you do not understand how to "cite a source" correctly, you must ask for help.
- Cheating is defined as fraud, deceit, or dishonesty in an academic assignment, or using or attempting to use materials, or assisting others in using materials that are prohibited or inappropriate in the context of the academic assignment in question.

Anyone caught cheating or plagiarizing will receive a zero (0) on the exam or assignment, and the instructor may report the incident to the Campus Disciplinary Officer, who may place related documentation in a file. Repeated acts of cheating may result in an F in the course and/or disciplinary action. Please refer to the General Catalog for more information on academic dishonesty or other misconduct. Acts of cheating include, but are not limited to, the following:

- (a) plagiarism;
- (b) copying or attempting to copy from others during an examination or on an assignment;
- (c) communicating test information with another person during an examination;
- (d) allowing others to do an assignment or portion of an assignment;
- (e) using a commercial term paper service.

How do I show academic honesty and integrity in an online "classroom"?

- KEEP YOUR PASSWORDS CONFIDENTIAL.
 - You have a unique password to access online software like Canvas. Never allow someone else to log-in to your account.
- COMPLETE YOUR OWN COURSEWORK.
 - When you register for an online class and log-in to Canvas, you do so with the understanding that you will produce your own work, take your own exams, and will do so without the assistance of others (unless directed by the instructor).

Examples of Academic Dishonesty that can occur in an online environment:

- Copying from others on a quiz, test, examination, or assignment;
- Allowing someone else to copy your answers on a quiz, test, exam, or assignment;
- Having someone else take an exam or quiz for you;
- Conferring with others during a test or quiz (if the instructor didn't explicitly say it was a group project, then he/she expects you to do the work without conferring with others);
- Buying or using a term paper or research paper from an internet source or other company or taking any work of another, even with permission, and presenting the work as your own;
- Excessive revising or editing by others that substantially alters your final work;
- Sharing information that allows other students an advantage on an exam (such as telling a peer what to expect on a make-up exam or prepping a student for a test in another section of the same class);
- Taking and using the words, work, or ideas of others and presenting any of these as your own work is plagiarism. This applies to all work generated by another, whether it be oral, written, or artistic work. Plagiarism may either be deliberate or unintentional.

Other Course Information

Online Netiquette:

- What is netiquette? Netiquette is internet manners, online etiquette, and digital etiquette all rolled into one word. Basically, netiquette is a set of rules for behaving properly online.
- Students are to comply with the following rules of netiquette: (1) identify yourself, (2) include a subject line, (3) avoid sarcasm, (4) respect others' opinions and privacy, (5) acknowledge and return messages promptly, (6) copy with caution, (7) do not spam or junk mail, (8) be concise, (9) use appropriate language, (10) use appropriate emoticons (emotional icons) to help convey meaning, and (11) use appropriate intensifiers to help convey meaning [do not use ALL CAPS or multiple exclamation marks (!!!)].
