Course Description

“Neither the life of an individual nor the history of a society can be understood without understanding both” – C. Wright Mills

This course is designed to give you a basic understanding of the processes of human social life through the theories, methods, and research findings of sociological inquiry. The purpose is to help you to establish a perspective that will enable you to better understand the social world around you. As this is an introductory sociology class, the goals are to present an overview of relevant sociological topics that encompass the discipline of sociology. My philosophy on learning is that while we learn individually, we can learn much better as a class, so participation is crucial to class learning as a whole. This means that coming to class prepared is essential for success in this class. The goal here is to instill what it means to be a sociologist, what it means to be a socially aware, and to become a better critical thinker when it comes to the world around us. You should be able to apply what you have learned in this course to different aspects of your everyday life and see topics in action in the real world. The critical thinking skills you will learn will be necessary in formulating reflective arguments that present a cogent and knowledgeable stance about the social world around us.

Course Prerequisite(s) and/or Corequisite(s)

No prerequisites/corequisites

Student Learning Outcomes

Each of the following outcomes should be achieved during the time you are in this class. The goal is for you to grow in your communication skills, critical thinking skills, personal responsibility, information literacy and global awareness.

1. Define sociology and explain how empirical research is used to study the social world. (ILO1, ILO2, ILO4, ILO5)
2. Compare and contrast the different major sociological theoretical perspectives that explain social behavior. (ILO2, ILO4, ILO5)
3. Define and apply the basic concepts of sociology including culture, status, roles, norms, institutions, social class, race, gender. (ILO2, ILO3, ILO4, ILO5)

Course Objectives

1. To become familiar with a variety of sociological topics and be able to speak comfortably about them in an academic context
2. To acquaint you with the components of culture and their impact on human behavior and the socialization process
3. To relate textbook concepts to the world and understand their interconnectedness

Requirements and Instructional Methods

This class is an online class. If there are any changes to the class schedule or modality, you will be informed through Canvas. I will send out the meeting link through Canvas that is accessible for class and office hours. We will also have weekly assignments which will count as part of your participation grade. These assignments will each refer to some aspect of the chapter they are covering, and are designed to help you apply the concepts to social life in our society and culture.

Exams and quizzes are multiple choice/true-false. Quizzes are done on CANVAS in the “Quizzes” section. Exams will be taken online on their scheduled day. You will have 30 minutes to take each quiz. Quizzes cover two chapters and are meant to be a review of information covered in a two-week period. Exams cover four chapters, and check knowledge and acquisition of key subject matter. If you know you are going to be unable to take an exam on its scheduled day, please notify me one week before or as soon as possible to make arrangements. This must be done before the test day. If you miss the exam day without making arrangements, there will be no make-ups. There will also be no make-ups for quizzes. Please note, only two out of three of your quizzes will be kept for your grade (the highest two out of three). Please make sure to stay in contact with me about anything that may come up.

The Sociology Project is completed during the second half of the semester. Details about the project are located on the last page of the syllabus.

Out of Class Assignments: The Department of Education policy states that one (1) credit hour is the amount of student work that reasonably approximates not less than one hour of class time and two (2) hours of out-of-class time per week over the span of a semester. WASC has adopted a similar requirement.

Course Policies

Attendance and Participation:

- A student who fails to attend the first meeting of a class or does not complete the first mandatory activity of an online class will be dropped by the instructor as of the first official meeting of that class. Should readmission be desired, the student's status will be the same as that of any other student who desires to add a class. It is the student's responsibility to drop or officially withdraw from the class. See General Catalog for details.
- Regular attendance in all classes is expected of all students. A student whose continuous, unexcused absences exceed the number of hours the class is scheduled to meet per week may be dropped. For online courses, students who fail to complete required activities for two consecutive weeks may be considered to have excessive absences and may be dropped.
- Absences attributed to the representation of the college at officially approved events (conferences, contests, and field trips) will be counted as 'excused' absences.

Please make arrangements with the instructor to keep up with all assignments in case anything comes up. Lecture notes can be found on Canvas. I will update chapter notes as we progress throughout the class. If you need any assistance with navigating Canvas, please ask me anytime. I will also put study guides on Canvas a week before the exam is scheduled.

Participation is part of your grade. There will be regular short writing assignments to make sure you understand the basic concepts that are covered. Many of these will help you apply the concepts discussed in the chapter to the social world. They are listed in the assignments portion of CANVAS. You can find the specific instructions for each of them there.

Please check your e-mail regularly so you are informed of any changes to the class, for example if the instructor will be unable to make it to class session that day or if there is a change in the schedule. This will help you stay informed about the status of the class.

Cheating and Plagiarism:

Academic honesty in the advancement of knowledge requires that all students and instructors respect the integrity of one another's work and recognize the importance of acknowledging and safeguarding intellectual property.

There are many different forms of academic dishonesty. The following kinds of honesty violations and their definitions are not meant to be exhaustive. Rather, they are intended to serve as examples of unacceptable academic conduct.

- Plagiarism is taking and presenting as one’s own the writings or ideas of others, without citing the source. You should understand the concept of plagiarism and keep it in mind when taking exams and preparing written materials. If you do not understand how to “cite a source” correctly, you must ask for help.
- Cheating is defined as fraud, deceit, or dishonesty in an academic assignment, or using or attempting to use materials, or assisting others in using materials that are prohibited or inappropriate in the context of the academic assignment in question.

Anyone caught cheating or plagiarizing will receive a zero (0) on the exam or assignment, and the instructor may report the incident to the Campus Disciplinary Officer, who may place related documentation in a file. If any more than 15% of your assignment is plagiarized, it’s an automatic “0.” You will be able to check the percentage and redo assignments up until the due date and time. Repeated acts of cheating may result in an F in the course and/or disciplinary action. Please refer to the General Catalog for more information on academic dishonesty or other misconduct. Acts of cheating include, but are not limited to, the following: (a) plagiarism; (b) copying or attempting to copy from others during an examination or on an assignment; (c) communicating test information with another person during an examination; (d) allowing others to do an assignment or portion of an assignment; (e) using a commercial term paper service.

Other Course Information

SOCIOLOGY PROJECT

Understanding social change in a variety of societies or communities is integral to this course. For the purposes of this project focus on your topic as it applies within the United States.

Select a topic from the list of options or choose your own topic. Document aspects of struggle and social change with a photographic power-point or slideshow (PowerPoint, Google Slides, etc...) presentation illustrating aspects of your research. Be sure to include pictures, video or audio recorded interviews as well as up-to-date information.

Required content:

- The documentation should be a 12-15 slides (PowerPoint, Google Slides, etc....) presentation illustrating aspects of your chosen topic.
- Include visual aids that help to illustrate your information (pictures, videos, graphs, etc....)
- Look for historical manifestations of your topic as well as how it presents itself now in the United States for your chosen community.
- What specifically (if anything) has changed historically, among groups or in different places. What are the struggles of the affected community as you can see?
- Select which theoretical perspective will help to explain the situation of your chosen topic.
- Include Works Cited.

The assignment is worth 100 points. I will send out an announcement on Canvas asking you to officially choose your project topic. Due dates will be assigned randomly and posted on Canvas. I will send out an announcement with due dates for every student after topics are chosen. Everyone must submit their chosen topic by September 8. Only one student can choose a particular topic. If you do not choose a topic, one will be assigned to you. Presentations are evaluated on validity of content and organization of information, meeting the slide number requirement, including visual aids (pictures, videos, graphs, etc...), submitting the assignment to the instructor on time, appropriate application of a theory, and accurate citation of sources used.

Rubric:

- Validity of Information, Project Organization and including all required content: 40 points
- Meet 12-15 Slide Requirement: 10 points
- Include appropriate and accurate visual aids: 20 points
- Turned in on Time (submit to professor before or on due date): 10 points
- Effectively apply sociological theory: 10 points
- Cite sources used in presentation: 10 points
