Course Description

This is an introductory course in the study of past and present indigenous societies of the US Southwest and Northern Mexico. Theories of early migration into the Americas and into the Greater Southwest will be discussed, as well as early archaeological and ethnological research on the geography, environmental adaptation, settlement patterns, architecture, and arts and crafts of ancient indigenous societies such as the Sinagua, Salado, and Patayan societies. Greater emphasis will be placed on discussing present Native American social structures among the Pueblos, Navajo, Apache, and Hopi, among others, including contemporary customs, traditions, art, languages, and religious beliefs. Moreover, students will critically assess the intersection of race, class and gender in the US Southwest and Northern Mexico, and the myriad ways dominant state ideologies on either side of the US-Mexico border continue to impact everyday life. From this perspective, students will discuss how struggle, resistance, social justice, solidarity, and liberation, as experienced by Native American communities, are relevant to current issues. (CSU/UC)

Student Learning Outcomes

Upon course completion, the successful student will have acquired new skills, knowledge, and or attitudes as demonstrated by being able to:

- 1) Demonstrate a measurable understanding of prehistoric migration theories into the Americas and the prehistory of the American Southwest and its cultural development.
- 2) Summarize cultural diversity of customs and traditions, languages, religious beliefs, and rituals, as well as social organization of Native Americans of the Southwest and northern Mexico.
- 3) Summarize and demonstrate the differences and similarities of the Spanish [summation of the Spanish Mission System] Mexican, and American governments political programs dealing with the acculturation of Native Americans.

Course Objectives

Upon satisfactory completion of the course, students will be able to:

- 1) Describe the diverse geographic and ecological regions and the adaptations of southwestern cultures to a diverse environment.
- 2) Analyze differences between Spanish, Mexican, and American programs, attitudes, and policies towards Natives of the Greater Southwest and northern Mexico.
- 3) Describe and identify the cultural diversity of customs, traditions, art, languages, religious beliefs, as well as the social structure of indigenous communities of the Southwest and northern Mexico.

- 4) Demonstrate a measurable understanding of archaeology laws and ethics, and the Native American Graves. Protection and Repatriation Act of 1990 [NAGPRA].
- 5) Analyze and articulate concepts of ethnic studies, including but not limited to race and ethnicity, racialization, equity, ethno-centrism, eurocentrism, white supremacy, self-determination, liberation, decolonization, and antiracism.
- 6) Apply theory to describe critical events in the histories, cultures, and intellectual traditions, with special focus on the lived-experiences and social struggles of Native Americans.
- 7) Demonstrate active engagement with anti-racist issues, practices, and movements to build a diverse, just, and equitable society beyond the classroom.

Course Requirements and Instructional Methods

The Department of Education policy states that one (1) credit hour is the amount of student work that reasonably approximates not less than one hour of class time and two (2) hours of out-of-class time per week over the span of a semester. Because this is a three-credit course, students should expect to invest a minimum of nine hours per week.

Students are assessed through a combination of discussion posts, short essays, a midterm, and a final exam. Active student participation is an important component of the final assessment. The following is a break-down of course requirements:

- Video Analysis (40 points): Students will analyze videos on the history and legacy of peoples of the Southwest, as well as important traditions, practices, and worldviews. There are two (2) videos per week. It is important to watch these videos in their entirety and to provide a detailed 150-word analysis with specific time stamps. Each video is worth 5 points and the set of weekly videos is due by Tuesday at 11:59pm.
- Discussion Posts (Readings) (50 points): Students will upload two (2) discussion posts each week on the readings based on the provided prompt. It is important to use quotes and page numbers from the required books (The Archaeology of Ancient Arizona and Paths of Life) to show clear connections to the readings. Each post is worth 5 points and is due by Thursday (1st discussion post) and Saturday (2nd discussion post) at 11:59pm.
- Discussion Post Comments (20 points): Students will comment on colleagues' weekly discussion posts. There are two required comments per week, each worth one (1) point, and are due Friday (1st discussion post comment) and Sunday (2nd discussion post comment) at 11:59pm.
- Quizzes (50 points): Students will complete five (5) quizzes that assess their engagement with the readings in short essay responses. As such, it is crucial to provide quotes and page numbers from the required books (The Archaeology of Ancient Arizona and Paths of Life) to show exactly where information is located for each response. Without quotes and page numbers, responses will be marked down points. Quizzes are restricted to the required books, unless otherwise instructed. Each quiz is worth 10 points and due on Sunday at 11:59pm.
- Ancient Southwest Exam (30 points): Students will complete an exam in week 3 on the ancient history of the Southwest. This exam is based on the book The Archaeology of Ancient Arizona. It is important to have access to this book throughout the course, but especially to complete this exam in week 3. This exam is due Sunday Jan. 21st at 11:59pm.
- Map Project (30 points): Students will identify five (5) articles on indigenous peoples of the Southwest and place pins on a virtual map for post. The map is available on Padlet which is embedded in our Canvas course. Students will work with others in a group to then analyze each post by providing comments and feedback. Each student post is worth five (5) points and comments are worth one (1) point (max five points for comments). It is important to work with others in your group as early as possible. The Map Project is due Sunday January 28th at 11:59pm and comments are due Sunday Feb. 4th at 11:59pm.

- Final Exam (30 points): Students will complete a Final Exam by Sunday February 4th. The Final Exam is on key concepts in the readings and important details of the history, language, origin narratives, and traditions of indigenous people of the Southwest.

Course Grading Based on Course Objectives

There is a total of 250 points possible in this course. The correspondence between points earned and final letter grade is the following:

Points Earned	Letter Grade
250 – 231	A
230 – 211	B
210 – 191	C
190 – 171	D
170 – 0	F

Academic Honesty (Artificial Intelligence -AI)

IVC values critical thinking and communication skills and considers academic integrity essential to learning. Using AI tools as a replacement for your own thinking, writing, or quantitative reasoning goes against both our mission and academic honesty policy and will be considered academic dishonesty, or plagiarism unless you have been instructed to do so by your instructor. In case of any uncertainty regarding the ethical use of AI tools, students are encouraged to reach out to their instructors for clarification.

Course Policies

Active participation is crucial. If you are unable to actively participate in the course because of unforeseen circumstances, please inform the instructor as soon as possible.

Late work is accepted only if the instructor is informed with a detailed justification. If you are unable to meet a deadline, please contact the instructor via email or Canvas message. Make-up work and exams may be allowed at the instructor's discretion.

In order to achieve our course objectives, it is important to foster an engaged learning environment that is respectful and welcoming of everyone in class. Please refrain from speech that may impede on others' learning and participation.

Plagiarism is a serious offense and will result in adverse consequences. Plagiarism is presenting someone else's work as one's own without citing the original source. It is crucial students understand the seriousness of plagiarism. Please do not copy and paste work from online sources or our textbook. Students are encouraged to reference their sources but always in a way that highlights their original ideas and clearly cites their sources. If you are unsure about IVC's plagiarism policy, please contact the instructor or refer to IVC's student services.

Other Course Information

The instructor may modify the syllabus as necessary to ensure the learning objectives are met. If there are any modifications to the syllabus, students will be notified via email within 24 hours.

Office hours are available by appointment. If you have a time conflict, please email the instructor to discuss alternate days or times. Office hours are an additional resource in your professional trajectory at IVC. The instructor is always open to dialogue and is committed to your success. Use office hours to receive one-to-one guidance on specific assignments, quizzes, or upcoming exams. Moreover, use office hours to discuss the many merits of anthropology as a major, or to discuss ways anthropology can contribute to your professional development beyond IVC.
