Course Description

This course provides a select overview of art, architecture, and/or material and popular culture from India, Southeast Asia, China, Korea, and Japan from pre-history to contemporary times and through local and global perspectives. (C-ID ART 103) (CSU/UC)

Course Prerequisite(s) and/or Corequisite(s)

None.

Student Learning Outcomes

Upon course completion, the successful student will have acquired new skills, knowledge, and/or attitudes as demonstrated by being able to:

1. Identify famous works of art, architecture, and/or material and popular culture in Asia from pre-history to contemporary times and through local and global perspectives. (ILO1, ILO4, ILO5)
2. Describe and analyze art, architecture, and/or material and popular culture in Asia, as well as artistic techniques, processes, and/or period styles, through formal and contextual analyses and employing appropriate terminology. (ILO2, ILO4, ILO5)
3. Recognize and explain the historical and cultural significance of selected art, architecture, and/or material and popular culture, as well as the role of artists, patrons, and audience in Asia. (ILO4, ILO5)

Course Objectives

Upon satisfactory completion of the course, students will be able to:

1. Demonstrate a working knowledge of Asian art, architecture, and/or material and popular culture from pre-history to contemporary times and through local and global perspectives.

2. Develop a critical understanding of the historical contexts, cultural values, religious beliefs, dominant ideologies, socio-economic forces, political climate, and patterns of patronage that influenced art, architecture, and/or material and popular culture in Asia.
3. Examine, describe, and identify art, architecture, and/or material and popular culture produced by various groups, societies, dynasties, empires, and/or modern nation-states in Asia.
4. Analyze and discuss art, architecture, and/or material and popular culture from the art historical periods and/or styles in Asia covered in this course through formal and contextual analyses and employing appropriate terminology.
5. Distinguish and discuss the role and/or power relationships of artists, patrons, and audience in the (re)production, circulation, performance, exhibition, interpretation, and/or preservation of art, architecture, and/or material and popular culture in Asia.
6. Develop a comparative insight into diverse media, techniques, and processes and explain the relationship between form and function.
7. Cultivate skills in oral and written expression of Asian art, architecture, and/or material and popular culture with greater clarity, coherence, and persuasion.

Course Requirements and Instructional Methods

This introductory course presents a survey of artistic expression and visual experience, chronicling the development of art, architecture, and/or material and popular culture from India, Southeast Asia, China, Korea, and Japan from pre-history to contemporary times and through local and global perspectives. It is designed for students who wish to cultivate a deeper appreciation of art. Moreover, it offers a broad overview of the major works, artists, and traditions in their cultural and historical contexts while developing tools for considering these works as both aesthetic objects and as bearers of meaning for the individuals, groups, or societies that produced and viewed them. Pedagogical emphasis is on introductory knowledge of the arts, visual literacy, critical thinking, and verbal and written forms of art criticism. This is a three-credit lecture course delivered online and asynchronously during the 17-week semester. Therefore, students are expected to spend a minimum of 2.5 hours per week inside class (i.e., logged in on Canvas using only a computer [desktop or laptop ONLY, NOT phone or iPad because these latter devices do not track/register your online attendance]) actively working on the modules to watch the video lectures and/or other materials and doing/submitting the graded requirements on Canvas AND an additional minimum of 6 hours outside of class (i.e., logged off on Canvas) to complete the requirements such as reading the textbook chapters, reviewing lecture notes, working on the project, and studying for quizzes and the final exam. Below are the graded and non-graded requirements and/or learning activities associated with this course from low stakes to high stakes and in a gradual pace to acknowledge cognitive diversity. Let's all learn together and support each other's intellectual and artistic growth!

READING ASSIGNMENTS

Reading topics and assignments are listed under the “Anticipated Class Schedule/Calendar” section and will be drawn from the required course textbook, which is intended as primary reference on artists and individual works, for historical background, and as a study reference; it is meant to supplement, but not replace, the modules consisting of video lectures and/or other materials posted on Canvas. While there is no grade associated with this requirement, completion of all reading assignments (i.e., understanding the material and taking notes while reading) is mandatory to succeed in the course.

MODULES

Based on topics, all modules include the instructor’s video lectures or guest video lectures (primary source of information) and/or other relevant materials (additional information should you want to learn more) for students to watch, view, read, and/or take notes on as part of the class time. While there is no grade associated with the modules, completion of all modules is mandatory to succeed in the course.

QUIZZES

After covering a significant chapter or chapters from the reading assignments, video lectures, and/or other materials, an online multiple-choice quiz of around 15 or more questions will be administered via Canvas on various dates as noted under the “Anticipated Class Schedule/Calendar” section. This requirement assesses your knowledge, reading skill, and critical analysis. There will be a total of 10 quizzes worth 50% of the final grade, each quiz corresponding to 5%. Quizzes are graded within 24 hours.

DISCUSSIONS

Active participation in the discussions via Canvas serves as an opportunity to develop the critical tools and vocabulary for discussing and writing about art, as well as to encourage student collaboration and peer-to-peer learning. You are required to make an initial post, respond to two of your peers, and reflect on your discussion by submitting a final written summary of about 100 words. Specific guidelines are posted on Canvas. There will be a total of 4 discussions worth 10% of the final grade, each discussion corresponding to 2.5%. Discussions are graded within the week.

PROJECT

A project (with group/individual portions) will focus on a work of art chosen by the student under the specific museum collection(s) or exhibition(s) identified by the instructor. This project allows the student to synthesize and demonstrate a variety of knowledge and skills (e.g., academic, curatorial, and technological), especially the selection and proper captioning of an art object relevant to this course, writing a formal analysis of an art object based on looking, verbal social/contextual analysis of an art object based on research, and compilation of a short bibliography using the Chicago Manual of Style, among others. Specific guidelines are posted on Canvas. This project is graded based on form and content and is worth 20% of the final grade. The project is graded within a week or two.

FINAL EXAM

The final exam is cumulative covering all the topics learned from Week 1 to 16 and will take the essay format. There will be a total of two essays, each is a minimum of 550 and a maximum of 600 words long. A final exam guideline will be posted on Canvas one week before the final exam. The final exam is graded based on form and content and is worth 20% of the final grade. The final exam is graded within the week.

Graded Course Requirements   Learning Activities	Percentage of Grade
Quizzes (total of 10)	50%
Discussions (total of 4)	10%
Project (1)	20%
Final Exam (2 essays)	20%
Total	100%

Course Grading Based on Course Objectives

Referring to the “Course Goals/Objectives/Student Learning Outcomes” section and depending on the specific course requirements, grades are assigned based on actual scores (for quizzes) or the quality of the work’s form and content following specific instructions (for discussions, project, and final exam). Grading rubrics are noted for each course requirement on Canvas. To access the grade that you earned for each course requirement, including the (in)correct answers and/or instructor feedback where relevant, please refer to your grades on Canvas. If you did not submit a course requirement on time (e.g., you missed a quiz or were late), it is automatically equivalent to “0.” At the conclusion of the semester, your total numerical score of X out of 100 is equivalent to a letter grade. For example, if you earned a total score of 89.5 out of 100, this is equivalent to “A.” If you earned a total score of 88.5 out of 100, this is equivalent to “B.” In short, the total score you get is the number converted to a letter grade.

Grade Percentage Earned	Letter Grade Equivalent	Interpretation   Performance	Course Goals   Objectives   Student Learning Outcomes
90-100	A	Outstanding   Excellent	Exceeded
80-89	B	Above Average   Good	Accomplished
70-79	C	Average   Satisfactory	Developing
60-69	D	Below Average   Passing	Rudimentary
0-59	F	Fail   Unsatisfactory	Inadequate

Academic Honesty (Artificial Intelligence -AI)

IVC values critical thinking and communication skills and considers academic integrity essential to learning. Using Artificial Intelligence (AI) tools as a replacement for your own thinking, writing, or quantitative reasoning goes against both our mission and academic honesty policy and will be considered academic dishonesty, or plagiarism unless you have been instructed to do so by your instructor. In case of any uncertainty regarding the ethical use of AI tools, students are encouraged to reach out to their instructors for clarification. All incidences of scholastic dishonesty—including but not limited to cheating, plagiarism, and collusion—will result in an assignment grade of “0” and, per college protocols, will be reported. Similarly, any work copied in whole or in part from the Internet or work resulting from a commercial or paid service will receive a grade of “0.” For further information, please refer to the college’s academic policies and standards in the General Catalog.

Accessibility Statement

IVC is committed to providing an accessible learning experience for all students, regardless of course modality. Every effort has been made to ensure that this course complies with all state and federal accessibility regulations, including Section 508 of the Rehabilitation Act, the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), and Title 5 of the California Code of Regulations. However, if you encounter any content that is not accessible, please contact your instructor or the area dean for assistance. If you have specific accommodations through DSPS, contact them for additional assistance. We are here to support you and ensure that you have equal access to all course materials.

Course Policies

ATTENDANCE AND PARTICIPATION

This is a fully online asynchronous course that requires the student to complete the requirements on/during specific dates and times remotely. While there is relative freedom, it also comes with the responsibility to attend and actively participate in a timely manner. Once again, this is a three-credit lecture course delivered online and asynchronously during the 17-week semester. Therefore, students are expected to spend a minimum of 2.5 hours per week inside class (i.e., logged in on Canvas using only a computer [desktop or laptop ONLY, NOT phone or iPad because these latter devices do not track/register your online attendance]) actively working on the modules to watch the video lectures and/or other materials and doing/submitting the graded requirements on Canvas AND an additional minimum of 6 hours outside of class (i.e., logged off on Canvas) to complete the requirements such as reading the textbook chapters, reviewing lecture notes, working on the project, and studying for quizzes and the final exam. Class attendance constitutes logging in to Canvas daily and/or several times every week AND actively engaged in the modules:

- Access this link to log in: Canvas Student Login. The Canvas Student Guides Site provides a variety of support available to students 24 hours per day. Additionally, a 24/7 Canvas Support Hotline is available for students to use: (877) 893-9853.

Failure to access Canvas and do the required work under the modules will considerably affect your performance and success in this course.

- A student who fails to attend the first day of the session by logging in on Canvas and/or does not complete the first mandatory activity on Canvas will be automatically dropped by the instructor. Should readmission be desired, the student's status will be the same as that of any other student who desires to add a class. It is the student's responsibility to drop or officially withdraw from the class. See General Catalog for details.
- Regular attendance in all classes is expected of all students. A student whose continuous unexcused absences exceed the number of hours the class is scheduled to meet per day may be dropped. A student who misses more than two graded requirements may be automatically dropped from the course by the instructor. A student who fails to complete two consecutive activities may be considered to have excessive absences and may be dropped.
- Absences attributed to the representation of the college at officially approved events (e.g., conferences, contests, and field trips), student medical emergency or illness, and death within the immediate family will be counted as 'excused' absences provided there is official documentation.

While the instructor has an obligation to help students who have missed classes for bona fide reasons, such assistance shall not require unreasonable effort. See also add/drop policy and late and/or make-up policy below.

ADD | DROP POLICY

If after reading the syllabus, attending the first day of the semester on Canvas, and/or viewing Module 0 and/or 1 you think that this course is not the right course for you, please officially drop the course or inform the instructor as soon as possible during the first week so that you can be dropped, and another student can be admitted to the course.

A student who fails to attend the first day of the session by logging in on Canvas and/or does not complete the first mandatory activity on Canvas will be automatically dropped by the instructor. A student whose continuous unexcused absences exceed the number of hours the class is scheduled to meet per day may be dropped. A student who misses more than two graded requirements may be automatically dropped from the course by the instructor. A student who fails to complete two consecutive activities may be considered to have excessive absences and may be dropped. To be proactive, please do not hesitate to see the instructor during her virtual office hours via Zoom if you anticipate and/or are having difficulty meeting deadlines. Let me help you!

LATE AND/OR MAKE-UP POLICY

Because this is a fully online asynchronous course, no late work or make-up will be given unless it is the result of documented illness of the student, medical emergency of the student, and death within the immediate family, among others. The student must contact the instructor and immediately submit the original documentation (i.e., doctor's note or hospital admittance record) via Canvas Inbox e-mail only as soon as possible. After reviewing the documentation, the instructor will then decide when to schedule the make-up in consultation with the student. To be proactive, please do not hesitate to speak with the instructor during her virtual office hours via Zoom if you anticipate and/or are experiencing trouble meeting deadlines.

ACADEMIC MISCONDUCT AND DISHONESTY

IVC values critical thinking and communication skills and considers academic integrity essential to learning. Using Artificial Intelligence (AI) tools as a replacement for your own thinking, writing, or quantitative reasoning goes against both our mission and academic honesty policy and will be considered academic dishonesty, or plagiarism unless you have been instructed to do so by your instructor. In case of any uncertainty regarding the ethical use of AI tools, students are encouraged to reach out to their instructors for clarification. All incidences of scholastic dishonesty—including but not limited to cheating, plagiarism, and collusion—will result in an assignment grade of “0” and, per college protocols, will be reported. Similarly, any work copied in whole or in part from the Internet or work resulting from a commercial or paid service will receive a grade of “0.” For further information, please refer to the college’s academic policies and standards in the General Catalog.

BASIC COMMUNICATION AND ACADEMIC (N)ETIQUETTE

Please use best practices and ethical behavior when interacting with your instructor, peers, and/or other members of the IVC academic community online. Be good digital citizens and follow these simple rules:

- Please use the Canvas Inbox to send all e-mails to me regarding our class. Write your message using appropriate language befitting of your status as a college student. Beginning with “Dear Dr. Baluyut” or “Dear Prof. Baluyut” is a good practice. Do not write like you are texting the instructor. Avoid ALL CAPS, multiple exclamation marks (!!!), or interrobangs (?!) as they convey volume (i.e., loud voice) or unnecessary emotions such as anger or impatience. Proofread your message and identify yourself in the end before hitting send. I am happy to receive your e-mail and will answer them within 48 hours during regular work week. Only in emergency should you e-mail me at my imperial.edu address with the appropriate subject heading using your course title, section/CRN, and issue (e.g., “ART 100 | Section/CRN X – Quiz 3”) using your IVC e-mail; if you e-mail me using your gmail or yahoo, it will end up in my junk folder and no reply is forthcoming to you.
- Respect other people’s opinions and privacy. You should not be recording and posting photographs, videos or screenshots from online sessions, conversations, and/or office hours publicly. This is to protect yourself, your classmates, guests (where applicable), and the instructor from legal liabilities.
- Sarcasm, inappropriate remarks or jokes, and/or disruptive behavior, particularly during the online discussions, will not be tolerated and may result in disciplinary action, including being dropped from the course due to non-compliance. Disciplinary procedures will be followed as outlined in the General Catalog.

TECHNOLOGY REQUIREMENTS

Because this is a fully online asynchronous course delivered through Canvas, a Learning Management System (LMS), students are expected to have access to a stable Internet, updated browser (i.e., Chrome is most preferred), current software (i.e., Outlook, Microsoft Word, PowerPoint, etc.), hardware (i.e., laptop or desktop with working microphone and webcam ONLY, NOT phone or iPad because these latter devices do not track/register your online attendance), and other free platforms/apps/social media (i.e., Zoom, YouTube, VoiceThread, Facebook, etc.). For technological assistance (e.g., loaner laptop from IVC or w-fi access), please refer to <https://www.imperial.edu/students/assessment-center/>.

TIPS FOR SUCCESS

The grade you receive at the end of the semester is the grade you earned, the grade you worked for. If you want to succeed in this course and receive the grade you wish to earn, kindly follow these helpful tips:

- Do the reading and take notes of what you read. If you do not understand a word, look it up in the dictionary. Deep learning takes time and hard work, and your commitment is essential.
- Watch, view, take notes, and review your notes taken while completing the modules during their activation periods because they will not be reopened later. You can adjust the play speed of the fully captioned videos or replay them, turn up/down the volume, etc. all on our Canvas platform. Please do NOT click the link "Watch on YouTube" below the video because this will take you to YouTube and not track that you are doing the modules (i.e., watching the video lectures) on Canvas, which will affect your recorded online attendance/performance in our course.
- If we finished a module and you have a question about it, make a post in our Chat Room. You can post your question there to allow for your instructor and/or peers to respond. Voluntary and not graded, the Chat Room is like a student lounge that is open 24/7 better than 7/11 or Starbucks!
- Give yourself time to participate in the Discussions. It is important that you follow the specific instructions given to you, engage actively, and complete the required tasks to get the full grade for each discussion. Believe me, you will get to know your classmates better and might make a friend or three this session!
- Study well and hard before each quiz and set your alarm so you do not miss it. Situate yourself in a quiet area and place your computer on a stable desk. Ensure your computer is up to speed by using Chrome as browser, clearing your cache, closing unnecessary programs and tabs that slow it down, and checking your Internet connection. If you accidentally swipe and log yourself out, I cannot reopen the quiz for you or give you a make-up quiz. Whatever is submitted is what is graded. So please be careful.
- When the project instructions are made available on Canvas, start thinking about the project early and do the required work over a period of time, not the last minute. See the instructor to discuss your ideas and/or progress. I can help you!
- When the final exam guidelines are made available on Canvas, study each question and know what it is asking of you. Study the notes you took while reading your textbook chapter and completing the modules, as well as your quiz results. Write drafts of your answers to the questions. Edit and proofread your drafts. Set your alarm so you do not miss the final exam submission.

Financial Aid

Your Grades Matter! In order to continue to receive financial aid, you must meet the Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP) requirement. Making SAP means that you are maintaining a 2.0 GPA, you have successfully completed 67% of your coursework, and you will graduate on time. If you do not maintain SAP, you may lose your financial aid. If you have questions, please contact financial aid at finaid@imperial.edu.

IVC Student Resources

IVC wants you to be successful in all aspects of your education. For help, resources, services, and an explanation of policies, visit <http://www.imperial.edu/studentresources> or click the heart icon in Canvas.

Anticipated Class Schedule/Calendar

Because of the volume of material to be covered and time limitation, this course does not provide an in-depth study into any single period of art. Rather, it offers a broad overview, focusing on several important representatives of each major period, culture, and/or movement. Students will be notified in advance of any changes to the course schedule.
