Required Text: Myers, David G. Exploring Psychology, 2014.
9th Edition, New York: Worth Publishers.

Course Description:

This course is designed to introduce you to the main concepts and theories of psychology. We will examine psychology as both a science and an applied discipline. Topics to be covered include research methods, physiological, developmental, states of consciousness, learning, emotions, stress and health, personality, abnormal and social psychology.

Course objectives:

The objectives of this course are: 1) To critically think about and gain knowledge of the main theories and concepts of each sub-field of psychology; and 2) To leave this course with a basic understanding of psychology, not only in the academic sense, but also an understanding of the everyday or practical nature of psychology.

Course Format:

This course will consist of a combination of lectures, class discussion, assigned readings, videos, group and individual projects, quizzes, and exams.

Course Requirements:

Attendance and Class Participation. You are expected to attend class and stay for the whole period. Attendance will be taken by the instructor. You will be expected to demonstrate an understanding of the assigned reading by actively participating in class discussions. If you miss a class, it is your responsibility to get class notes from a fellow student. If you are going to miss a class, please call me before class to let me know. You may be dropped from class if you are absent consecutively for the equivalent of one week of instruction, but DO NOT rely on the instructor dropping you. If you want to drop the class, it is your responsibility to fill out the proper paperwork with the admissions office.

Thought Papers. There will be three (3) 1-3 page thought papers due at various times during the semester. Thought papers should address ideas and concepts regarding psychology from the course text, class discussion, magazine and internet articles, research journals, and/or life experience. Thought papers need to be written from your point of view. Each thought paper will be worth 25 points. More information will be provided about these papers throughout the course. No late thought papers will be accepted.

Group Work- There will be two (2) in class, take home or group work assignments given throughout the semester. More information will be provided about these assignments at a later date. Each assignment will be worth 25 points.

Exams. Four (4) exams will be given. Exams will consist of multiple choice questions from the textbook, lectures and videos. No make-up exams will be given unless you have called me PRIOR to the exam to discuss why you may not be able to take the exam. Make-up exams will be discussed on an individual basis. Each exam will be worth 100 points. You must bring a #2 pencil and a Scantron form to each examination.

Student Learning Objective. In order to demonstrate your comprehension of introductory psychology you will be required to identify major psychological disorders, key symptoms, and the main strategies used for treatment.

Grading System:
