Course Requirements and instructional Methods:

The Department of Education policy states that one (1) credit hour is the amount of student work that reasonably approximates not less than one hour of class time and two (2) hours of out-of-class time per week over the span of a semester.

{Translation: students are expected to attend all weekly class sessions as well as spend 2 hours per week doing out-of-class work for every hour that the class meets weekly. For example, our class meets four (4) hours per week, so students are expected not only to attend class sessions but also to spend eight (8) hours per week doing required reading, homework assignments, and writing assignments in preparation and support of the four hours of weekly class meetings. That will require a total of twelve (12) hours of a student's time each weekly for this class all semester.}

So, during the semester there will be a number of course activities which must be accomplished during class:

- Listening to and taking notes from lectures
- Follow up group and individual writing activities based on lectures or assigned textbook readings
- Practice writing, analyzing, and editing
- Quizzes and exams

Out of class, students are expected to complete:

- ✓ Weekly reading assignments in the textbooks and from handouts
- ✓ Homework assignments, which may include online work from Toolwire Writing Games and Journaling assignments
- ✓ Gathering of research sources, writing drafts and turning in the final research paper

It is the student’s responsibility to drop or officially with draw from the class.
- Regular attendance in all classes is expected of all students. A student whose continuous, unexcused absences exceed the number of hours the class is scheduled to meet per week may be dropped. For online courses, students who fail to complete required activities for two consecutive weeks may be considered to have excessive absences and may be dropped.

There are many different forms of academic dishonesty. The following kinds of honesty violations and their definitions are not meant to be exhaustive. Rather, they are intended to serve as examples of unacceptable academic conduct.

- Plagiarism is taking and presenting as one's own the writings or ideas of others, without citing the source. You should understand the concept of plagiarism and keep it in mind when taking exams and preparing written materials. If you do not understand how to "cite a source" correctly, you must ask for help.
- Cheating is defined as fraud, deceit, or dishonesty in an academic assignment, or using or attempting to use materials, or assisting others in using materials that are prohibited or inappropriate in the context of the academic assignment in question.

Anyone caught cheating or plagiarizing will receive a zero (0) on the exam or assignment, and the instructor may report the incident to the Campus Disciplinary Officer, who may place related documentation in a file. Repeated acts of cheating may result in an F in the course and/or disciplinary action. Please refer to the General Catalog for more information on academic dishonesty or other misconduct. Acts of cheating include, but are not limited to, the following: (a) plagiarism; (b) copying or attempting to copy from others during an examination or on an assignment; (c) communicating test information with another person during an examination; (d) allowing others to do an assignment or portion of an assignment; € using a commercial term paper service.
