Course Requirements and Instructional Methods

Instructional Methods: This course will include 12 to 15 lectures. Lectures will often include information not covered in your readings. Periodically, lecture will also include class discussions requiring your active participation. Students will also be required to read, and watch material posted on Canvas. Both outside and in-class writing assignments are required. Reading is expected to be completed during the assigned week. Students must take notes during class lecture. Please print out and bring to class each lecture outline located on Canvas. All out-of-class written assignments must be submitted on Canvas. All assignments must be submitted in a Word.doc format.

- Analytical Essay: You will write one analytical essay on Narrative of the Life of Frederick Douglass, an American Slave. You will receive a prompt for this assignment in advance. You must submit your response on Canvas by 11:59 p.m. on Nov. 27, and also bring a hardcopy to class the next day to receive full credit. Please attach the assigned rubric to the front of your submission. Failure to submit a hardcopy will result in a 5-point penalty. Failure to attach the rubric will result in a 2-point penalty. Submissions will be penalized five points each day the assignment is late. This assignment will be worth up to 100 points.
- Exams: There will be a midterm exam and a final exam. The exams will cover the assigned readings, my lectures, material posted on Canvas, and everything we discuss or watch in class. The final exam will not be cumulative. I will post a study guide at least two weeks before each exam. I will not allow a make-up examination except in instances in which a student has a documented medical emergency. Students will need to provide a large bluebook for both exams. Each exam will be worth at least 150 points. Exams will include three components: an essay, short identification, and matching.

Section 1—Essay: You will be given two essay questions from your study guide, and you will choose to write on one. The essay will be worth up to 50 points. You are expected to write an in-depth essay using information from lecture, the assigned reading, information posted on Canvas, and in-class video clips.

Section 2—Matching: On each exam you will be given a list of terms from your study guide. You will match each term to their definition or historical significance. Each correct answer will be worth 2 points.

Section 3—Identification: You will be given a short list of terms from your study guide. For each term you will identify the who, what, where, when, and the historical significance in paragraph form. Each response will be worth up to 10 points. Your answer should be between one meaty paragraph to a page in length.

- Map Quiz: You will have one map quiz worth 25 points. A list of places and a blank map will be posted on Canvas prior to the quiz indicating locations to identify. Note: You will not receive a word bank during the quiz. Also, I will not allow make-up quizzes/examinations except in instances in which a student has a documented medical emergency.
- Participation: Simply put, are you present when you're present? To receive full credit, students must refrain from texting, rudely interrupting class, be awake during lecture, answer questions presented to the class by either myself or one of your classmates. Students may earn up to 15 extra credit points.
- Primary Responses: Over the course of the semester you will be assigned to read various primary source documents. The list of primary source documents and the weeks they are due are located in the Course Schedule. Each student must select two responses to submit over the course of the semester. Do not submit more than two responses. These assignments must be submitted through Canvas by 11:59 p.m. on Friday of the assigned week.

To complete your primary responses, read the document and respond in complete sentence form to the provided questions. Each submission will be worth 25 points. Each submission should have a total word count between 350-600 words. Submissions that do not meet the minimum word count will be penalized. Submissions less than one week late will be penalized up to five points. Submissions more than one week will not be accepted. You will not be allowed to submit the response once the assignment has closed on Canvas, so please plan ahead.

Each submission must have the student's name, the date, the name of the course, and the word count single-spaced in the top left-hand corner. The title of the document should include the name of the documents, or the author's last name as listed on the course schedule. The title must be centered above your response. Text must be 12-point Times New Roman, lines must be double-spaced, and the document should have one-inch margins. You must cite all information using the Chicago Manual of Style. You must use one direct quote (note: keep quotes short and direct) from each assigned source. Answer each question separately.

- Textbook Quizzes: There will be four in-class reading quizzes based on chapters from Give Me Liberty!. Each "Foner Quiz" will be worth 20 points. Your lowest quiz score will be dropped at the end of the semester. Be sure to bring a scantron to class for each quiz. There are no make-ups for these assignments. Quiz dates are located on the Course Schedule.

Out of Class Assignments: The Department of Education policy states that one (1) credit hour is the amount of student work that reasonably approximates not less than one hour of class time and two (2) hours of out-of-class time per week over the span of a semester. WASC has adopted a similar requirement.

Attendance

- You are expected to attend every class session. Missing class will cause you to miss valuable information, and thus, will cause your grade to greatly suffer.
- A student who fails to attend the first meeting of a class or does not complete the first mandatory activity of an online class will be dropped by the instructor as of the first official meeting of that class. Should readmission be desired, the student's status will be the same as that of any other student who desires to add a class. It is the student's responsibility to drop or officially withdraw from the class. See General Catalog for details. If you are in class anytime during the semester but stop coming to class and do not officially withdraw, you will receive an F.
- Regular attendance in all classes is expected of all students. Attendance will be taken every class period. If you are late or leave early, you may be marked absent. It is your responsibility to make sure I know you were in class. Students who stay for less than two-thirds of the class are considered absent. Students are responsible for all materials, assignments, or information given in class, regardless of whether you were in class. A student whose continuous, unexcused absences exceed the number of hours the class is scheduled to meet per week may be dropped. For online courses, students who fail to complete required activities for two consecutive weeks may be considered to have excessive absences and may be dropped.

- Absences attributed to the representation of the college at officially approved events (conferences, contests, and field trips) will be counted as ‘excused’ absences, however, do not take this class if you will have to miss more than two classes as a result of these activities, because it will seriously impact your ability to successfully complete the course.

Academic Honesty

Academic honesty in the advancement of knowledge requires that all students and instructors respect the integrity of one another's work and recognize the important of acknowledging and safeguarding intellectual property.

There are many different forms of academic dishonesty. The following kinds of honesty violations and their definitions are not meant to be exhaustive. Rather, they are intended to serve as examples of unacceptable academic conduct.

- Plagiarism is taking and presenting as one's own the writings or ideas of others, without citing the source. You should understand the concept of plagiarism and keep it in mind when taking exams and preparing written materials. If you do not understand how to "cite a source" correctly, you must ask for help.
- Cheating is defined as fraud, deceit, or dishonesty in an academic assignment, or using or attempting to use materials, or assisting others in using materials that are prohibited or inappropriate in the context of the academic assignment in question.

Anyone caught cheating or plagiarizing will receive a zero (0) on the exam or assignment, and the instructor may report the incident to the Campus Disciplinary Officer, who may place related documentation in a file. Repeated acts of cheating may result in an F in the course and/or disciplinary action. Please refer to the General Catalog for more information on academic dishonesty or other misconduct. Acts of cheating include, but are not limited to, the following: (a) plagiarism; (b) copying or attempting to copy from others during an examination or on an assignment; (c) communicating test information with another person during an examination; (d) allowing others to do an assignment or portion of an assignment; (e) using a commercial term paper service.

Student Equity Program

- The Student Equity Program strives to improve Imperial Valley College’s success outcomes, particularly for students who have been historically underrepresented and underserved. The college identifies strategies to monitor and address equity issues, making efforts to mitigate any disproportionate impact on student success and achievement. Our institutional data provides insight surrounding student populations who historically, are not fully represented. Student Equity addresses disparities and/or disproportionate impact in student success across disaggregated student equity groups including gender, ethnicity, disability status, financial need, Veterans, foster youth, homelessness, and formerly incarcerated students. The Student Equity Program provides direct supportive services to empower students experiencing insecurities related to food, housing, transportation, textbooks, and shower access. We recognize that students who struggle meeting their basic needs are also at an academic and economic disadvantage, creating barriers to academic success and wellness. We strive to remove barriers that affect IVC students’ access to education, degree and certificate completion, successful completion of developmental math and English courses, and the ability to transfer to a university. Contact: 760.355.5736 or 760.355.5733 Building 100.
- The Student Equity Program also houses IVC’s Homeless Liaison, who provides direct services, campus, and community referrals to students experiencing homelessness as defined by the McKinney-Vento Act. Contact: 760.355.5736 Building 100.
