HOW THIS COURSE IS ORGANIZED

I believe that students learn best when presented with a variety of teaching strategies. The class will consist of lectures and many “hands on” activities such as small group discussions, exercises. Demonstrations, debates, paired work, and in-class writing assignments. I love teaching and talking about society and our experiences. This class is one of my favorite ones to teach because it allows us to learn and explore many of our lived experiences and will also give us a perspective about our futures.

This class will cover many delicate and sensitive topics regarding the family and intimate relationships, therefore, you can expect to be personally affected by some of the topics. I will discuss this further in class. For now, take a look at the coursework.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Grading Based	Total Points	Grading Scale
Contact the Professor!	20
Quizzes (5) @ 20 Points Each	100	A 500-450 points
Essays (2) @ 50 Points Each	100	B 449-400 points
Genogram Family Tree Project	80	C 399-350 points
Participation Points	100	D 349-300 points
Final Group Project	100	F 299 and below
Total Points	500

Contact the Professor (20 points). Getting to know you is the best part of my job. I would like to learn a little bit about you. Therefore, your first “assignment” is to contact me. I will be posting a couple of questions as a Canvas assignment. Please answer that question as you feel comfortable. It is a very simple and casual assignment.

You will have until the end of the fourth week of the Spring Semester to submit it. It is worth 20 points! So, plan accordingly. I will not accept any late submissions.

Participation (100 Points): Research shows that people learn better when they are actively involved in the learning process. Therefore, I really value your participation. So, what counts towards participation? To start off participation is showing up to class on a regular basis and the following points:

- a. Your participation in the group discussions and activities
- b. Showing up to class regularly and on-time
- c. Being prepared for every class, having completed assigned readings
- d. Being attentive and engaged during lectures (Note: I love to see students offering ideas and posing questions; however, it's just as important to be mindful of what's taking place in class, rather than feeling that you must speak during every class period.)
- e. Refraining from using and keep your mobile phone and laptop computer out of site during class time.
- f. Fully participating in all in-class activities
- g. Completing all of your assignments
- h. Refraining from using and keep your mobile phone and laptop computer out of site during class time (See my policy at the end of the syllabus.).

Think of it this way: You are starting the semester with a solid "A" (100 points) in participation. For each absence, excessive late arrivals, talking out of turn, disturbing the class, using your phone in class, missed assignments, you will lose participation points.

Essays. You will write 2 essays. You will receive an assignment guide and plenty of help so that you write an excellent paper. Please follow the class calendar for due dates.

Note: Each student's capacity to read, write, and take notes at a college level is assumed. In addition, your written work will be graded not only for mastery of course materials, but for clarity, structure, and presentation (e.g., syntax, style and precision of expression, spelling, punctuation, etc.). The Writing Center has been established specially to assist students with writing projects. Contact them early for help with your assignment.

Quizzes. Canvas Quizzes will ensure that you are on top of your readings and pay attention to class discussion. They will be short and will reward those students who have read and attend class. Quizzes are multiple choices, True/False, and short responses. All Canvas quizzes will open on Wednesday afternoon and will close the on the following Monday at midnight.

Quizzes will be timed so you need to study. Only one attempt. Make sure that you know how to access Canvas prior to the first quiz. Ask for help! It is your responsibility to have Canvas set up by the first week of the semester. If you know you will not have access to reliable internet access at home, make sure to use the campus library. There are no make-up quizzes! No exceptions!

Genogram/Family Tree Project. You will be required to complete a genogram or family tree. A genogram is a graphic representation of a family tree that displays detailed data on relationships among individuals. This project will allow you to analyze some of your family dynamics. Do not stress! You will receive a guide and my support if you find it difficult to complete.

Family in Crisis Final Group Project (100 Points). Students will have the opportunity to work in groups for a final project that will be presented to class. As a group student will conduct research and create a formal presentation to educate. Do not stress as I will provide a guide and support.

Extra Credit. You will have opportunities to earn extra credit throughout the course. I will announce extra credit opportunities during class only! If you are absent you will miss the announcement. You can ask your classmates for help but do not ask me, as I will not repeat it for you.

REYES'S CLASSROOM EXPECTATIONS

Absences and Late Arrivals: Most of us are occasionally absent or late to class. This is understandable and acceptable. However, when this becomes a regular occurrence, it can be disruptive to the flow of the class and the learning community. To reduce this problem, I will keep track of attendance. Students who have irregular attendance have shown do poorly in all assignments. Talk to me if you have an emergency situation that may prevent you from fully participating in class for more than one class period. Otherwise, you do not need to report you absence. I will not reply to such e-mails.

The instructor as of the first official meeting of that class will drop a student who fails to attend the first meeting of a class. Should readmission be desired, the student's status will be the same as that of any other student who desires to add a class. It is the student's responsibility to drop or officially withdraw from the class. See General Catalog for details. Regular attendance in all classes is expected of all students. A student whose continuous, unexcused absence exceed the number of hours the class is scheduled to meet per week may be dropped. Absences attributed to the representation of the college at officially approved events (conferences, contests, and field trips) will be counted as 'excused' absences.

Late work will not be accepted! Exceptions may be made only in cases of severe and documented hardship. You must contact me as soon as you realize you will not be able to get an assignment in on time. I will review the legitimacy of your petition and decide whether to accept the late work. If you know you will be absent ahead of time make sure to e-mail or turn in your homework a before the due date.

"R-E-S-P-E-C-T, find out what it means to me." Classroom discussion should remain civil. We are here to learn from each other. It is difficult to learn from someone who is yelling at you, rolling her/his eyes, grumbling under his/her breath, ignoring you, interrupting you, or engaging in other dismissive behaviors. I do not expect that any of us will be tempted to behave so rudely but it doesn't hurt to spell out that these things are out-of-bounds in the classroom. I will ask students to leave the class if behavior becomes disruptive to the class.

How to use student hours? I enjoy office hours because it is time devoted to working with students one-on-one or in small groups. Examples of how students use office hours are: asking questions about the paper assignments, bringing in paper drafts or just ideas for your paper, sharing personal examples that relate to the class, complaining about something not going well in our class, clarifying your status in class, telling me what learning styles work for you, getting feedback from wanting to know about graduate school, wanting to know about other sociology classes, and wanting to know about career options with a sociology major.

As you can see, every one of you has a good reason to come to office hours!

Some of the least effective ways to use office hours is asking "what happened in class" because you missed – if this is the case, get the notes from a classmate and come to me with specific questions and comments.

I am here to help you. If you have outside responsibilities or other potential barriers to completing the work for this course, please come talk to me as soon as possible. Do not wait until it is too late to get help.

Additional Campus Rules and Information

Food and Drinks are prohibited in all classrooms. Water bottles with lids/caps are the only exception.

Additional restrictions will apply in labs.

Academic honesty in the advancement of knowledge requires that all students and instructors respect the integrity of one another's work and recognize the important of acknowledging and safeguarding intellectual property. There are many different forms of academic dishonesty. The following kinds of honesty violations and their definitions are not meant to be exhaustive. Rather, they are intended to serve as examples of unacceptable academic conduct.

- Plagiarism is taking and presenting as one's own the writings or ideas of others, without citing the source. You should understand the concept of plagiarism and keep it in mind when taking exams and preparing written materials. If you do not understand how to "cite a source" correctly, you must ask for help.
- Cheating is defined as fraud, deceit, or dishonesty in an academic assignment, or using or attempting to use materials, or assisting others in using materials that are prohibited or inappropriate in the context of the academic assignment in question.

Anyone caught cheating or plagiarizing will receive a zero (0) on the exam or assignment, and the instructor may report the incident to the Campus Disciplinary Officer, who may place related documentation in a file. Repeated acts of cheating may result in an F in the course and/or disciplinary action. Please refer to the General Catalog for more information on academic dishonesty or other misconduct. Acts of cheating include, but are not limited to, the following: (a) plagiarism; (b) copying or attempting to copy from others during an examination or on an assignment; (c) communicating test information with another person during an examination; (d) allowing others to do an assignment or portion of an assignment; (e) using a commercial term paper service

Student Equity Program

The Student Equity Program strives to improve Imperial Valley College's success outcomes, particularly for students who have been historically underrepresented and underserved. The college identifies strategies to monitor and address equity issues, making efforts to mitigate any disproportionate impact on student success and achievement. Our institutional data provides insight surrounding student populations who historically, are not fully represented. Student Equity addresses disparities and/or disproportionate impact in student success across disaggregated student equity groups including gender, ethnicity, disability status, financial need, Veterans, foster youth, homelessness, and formerly incarcerated students. The Student Equity Program provides direct supportive services to empower students experiencing insecurities related to food, housing, transportation, textbooks, and shower access. We recognize that students who struggle meeting their basic needs are also at an academic and economic disadvantage, creating barriers to academic success and wellness. We strive to remove barriers that affect IVC students' access to education, degree and certificate completion, successful completion of developmental math and English courses, and the ability to transfer to a university. Contact: 760.355.5736 or 760.355.5733 Building 100.

The Student Equity Program also houses IVC's Homeless Liaison, who provides direct services, campus, and community referrals to students experiencing homelessness as defined by the McKinney-Vento Act. Contact: 760.355.5736 Building 100.
