Course Requirements and Instructional Methods

Instructional Methods: This course will include one or two weekly video lectures a week. Lectures may be in written or video form, and will often include information not covered in your readings. Students may also be required to read, and watch material posted on Canvas. Students will be given access to a new weekly module each Monday. It is important to check these weekly modules for course updates. Reading is expected to be completed during that of the assigned week. All writing assignments must be submitted on Canvas. Do not email your assignments unless I have given you prior approval. All assignments must be submitted in a .pdf or word.doc format. Do NOT submit assignments in other formats.

Analytical Essay: You will write one analytical five-paragraph essay on the history of American slavery primarily using your textbook, lecture, and the Narrative of the Life of Frederick Douglass, an American Slave. This assignment will be worth up to 100 points. You can find an assignment prompt online outlining what I am expecting you to analyze and discuss. You must submit your response on Canvas. Note: Submissions will be penalized five points for each calendar day the assignment is late. Plagiarism or a similarity score more than 40% may result in an automatic zero.

Discussion Boards (DBs): Modules will often consist of a discussion board assignment. Each of these assignments will be worth up to 25 points each. I will provide the class with question(s) based on presented material from that week. You will have a minimum of five DBs this semester.

- How do I score 25 points each week?
DB post 21 points: You must answer the question each week. Answers to the DB should be well thought out and thorough answers that include specific details and examples which demonstrate your understanding of the course material. For each DB you must quote the presented material. Quotes must be cited with Chicago Style footnotes at the bottom of your post. DBs must be posted by 11:59 pm on Thursday of each week. Note: Be sure to meet the minimum word count.
- DB peer responses (2 pts each)
 You must also respond to two of your fellow students’ posts. Your peer responses must be posted by 11:59 pm on Sunday. Peer responses must also be thorough and well thought out. “Nice,” and “I completely agree,” are not proper responses. Please feel free to respond to as many of your peers as you would like this will help to facilitate a good discussion. Just remember two is the minimum to receive the maximum of 25 points per week for your DB work. Note: You may not post all of your posts on the same day. You should revisit the DB throughout the week. Note: The DBs are used to facilitate group discussions and the sharing of ideas related to the class content. Please remember our Netiquette guidelines and be respectful to your peers.

- I will not open early or reopen a DB for a single student.
- No outside information is allowed to be used unless cleared by me before posting: Citing unapproved websites will result in an automatic zero.
- Do not edit your posts: Posted found to be edited will result in an automatic zero on the assignment.

Exams: There will be three exams. Each exam will be worth at least 100 points. Exams will cover the assigned readings, my lectures, posted material on Canvas, and everything we discuss or watch up to that point in class. The final exam will not be cumulative. Expect these exams to be spread out about every five weeks of the semester. I will not allow a make-up examination except in instances in which a student has a documented medical emergency. Exams may consist of an essay, short identification, multiple choice, and/or matching questions.

Student Introduction: You are required to write or film a short biography. Your submission must be posted to the “Student Bio” discussion board by Thursday of the first week of class or you will be dropped from the course.

Short Papers: Over the course of the semester you will be assigned at least five response papers. These papers will analyze historical films and/or primary source documents. Material and assignment prompts will be posted in your weekly module. Each submission will be worth 25 points. You will not be allowed to submit your response once the assignment has closed on Canvas. Each submission must have your name, the date, the name of the course, and the word count single-spaced in the top right-hand corner. The title of your paper should be 12-point Times-New Roman centered type and include the title of the documents or film being analyzed. Body text must be 12-point Times New Roman, body text must be double-spaced, and the document must have one-inch margins. You must use two short direct quotes in your response. Please see the Chicago Citation Guide on Canvas for more details. Failure to cite your information may lead to a zero grade. If your submission has a similarity/plagiarism score of 50% or higher you will receive zero credit—so, use your own thoughts and words. Answer each question separately. Do not include the given questions because they will not count toward your minimum word count.

Textbook Quizzes: There will be six reading quizzes based on chapters from your textbook, Give Me Liberty!. Each quiz will be worth 15 points. There are no make-ups for these assignments. Quiz dates are located on Canvas.

Out of Class Assignments: The Department of Education policy states that one (1) credit hour is the amount of student work that reasonably approximates not less than one hour of class time and two (2) hours of out-of-class time per week over the span of a semester. WASC has adopted a similar requirement.

Attendance

- A student who fails to attend the first meeting of a class or does not complete the first mandatory activity of an online class will be dropped by the instructor as of the first official meeting of that class. Should readmission be desired, the student's status will be the same as that of any other student who desires to add a class. It is the student's responsibility to drop or officially withdraw from the class. See General Catalog for details.
- Regular attendance in all classes is expected of all students. A student whose continuous, unexcused absences exceed the number of hours the class is scheduled to meet per week may be dropped. For online courses, students who fail to complete required activities for two consecutive weeks may be considered to have excessive absences and may be dropped.
- Absences attributed to the representation of the college at officially approved events (conferences, contests, and field trips) will be counted as 'excused' absences.

What does it mean to "attend" an online class?

Attendance is critical to student success and for IVC to use federal aid funds. Acceptable indications of attendance are:

- Student submission of an academic assignment
- Student submission of an exam
- Student participation in an instructor-led Zoom conference
- Documented student interaction with class postings, such as an interactive tutorial or computer-assisted instruction via modules
- A posting by the student showing the student's participation in an assignment created by the instructor
- A posting by the student in a discussion forum showing the student's participation in an online discussion about academic matters
- An email from the student or other documentation showing that the student has initiated contact with a faculty member to ask a question about an academic subject studied in the course.

Logging onto Canvas alone is NOT adequate to demonstrate academic attendance by the student.

Classroom Etiquette

- Disruptive Students: Students who disrupt or interfere with a class may be sent out of the room and told to meet with the Campus Disciplinary Officer before returning to continue with coursework. Disciplinary procedures will be followed as outlined in the General Catalog.

Online Netiquette

- What is netiquette? Netiquette is internet manners, online etiquette, and digital etiquette all rolled into one word. Basically, netiquette is a set of rules for behaving properly online.
- Students are to comply with the following rules of netiquette: (1) identify yourself, (2) include a subject line, (3) avoid sarcasm, (4) respect others' opinions and privacy, (5) acknowledge and return messages promptly, (6) copy with caution, (7) do not spam or junk mail, (8) be concise, (9) use appropriate language, (10) use appropriate emoticons (emotional icons) to help convey meaning, and (11) use appropriate intensifiers to help convey meaning [do not use ALL CAPS or multiple exclamation marks (!!!!)].

Academic Honesty

Academic honesty in the advancement of knowledge requires that all students and instructors respect the integrity of one another's work and recognize the important of acknowledging and safeguarding intellectual property.

There are many different forms of academic dishonesty. The following kinds of honesty violations and their definitions are not meant to be exhaustive. Rather, they are intended to serve as examples of unacceptable academic conduct.

- Plagiarism is taking and presenting as one's own the writings or ideas of others, without citing the source. You should understand the concept of plagiarism and keep it in mind when taking exams and preparing written materials. If you do not understand how to "cite a source" correctly, you must ask for help.
- Cheating is defined as fraud, deceit, or dishonesty in an academic assignment, or using or attempting to use materials, or assisting others in using materials that are prohibited or inappropriate in the context of the academic assignment in question.

Anyone caught cheating or plagiarizing will receive a zero (0) on the exam or assignment, and the instructor may report the incident to the Campus Disciplinary Officer, who may place related documentation in a file. Repeated acts of cheating may result in an F in the course and/or disciplinary action. Please refer to the General Catalog for more information on academic dishonesty or other misconduct. Acts of cheating include, but are not limited to, the following: (a) plagiarism; (b) copying or attempting to copy from others during an examination or on an assignment; (c) communicating test information with another person during an examination; (d) allowing others to do an assignment or portion of an assignment; (e) using a commercial term paper service.

Student Equity Program

- The Student Equity Program strives to improve Imperial Valley College’s success outcomes, particularly for students who have been historically underrepresented and underserved. The college identifies strategies to monitor and address equity issues, making efforts to mitigate any disproportionate impact on student success and achievement. Our institutional data provides insight surrounding student populations who historically, are not fully represented. Student Equity addresses disparities and/or disproportionate impact in student success across disaggregated student equity groups including gender, ethnicity, disability status, financial need, Veterans, foster youth, homelessness, and formerly incarcerated students. The Student Equity Program provides direct supportive services to empower students experiencing insecurities related to food, housing, transportation, textbooks, and shower access. We recognize that students who struggle meeting their basic needs are also at an academic and economic disadvantage, creating barriers to academic success and wellness. We strive to remove barriers that affect IVC students’ access to education, degree and certificate completion, successful completion of developmental math and English courses, and the ability to transfer to a university. Contact: 760.355.5736 or 760.355.5733 Building 100.
- The Student Equity Program also houses IVC’s Homeless Liaison, who provides direct services, campus, and community referrals to students experiencing homelessness as defined by the McKinney-Vento Act. Contact: 760.355.5736 Building 100.
