- Music an Appreciation ISBN-13: 9780077837310 Edition: 8th Author: Roger Kamien Publisher: McGraw Hill Co.
- Read and research Music Historical facts and composers Online.
- Provide lecture note by instructor in each class date.
- Textbooks are not necessarily required but refer to classes

Course Requirements and Instructional Methods

- This course is taught entirely face-to-face, so students must attend class to complete. Additionally, familiarizing yourself with the weekly updated module content as review material is essential to successfully progress through the course.
- Throughout the duration of this class, the following assignments are imperative in accordance with the class schedule:
- Assessments - The class schedule includes four quizzes, three exams, and two discussions. All quizzes and tests are administered through the Canvas Quiz section and subsequently submitted. Consequently, they can be conveniently completed from home.
- Quizzes - These assessments will evaluate students' understanding of music forms and genres from different periods. Both quizzes and exams will consist of multiple-choice questions (except 1st quiz) and offer up to two attempts.

- For the essay assignment, students select one of the composers designated by the professor and submit it by researching the composer's life, music and characteristics of that music. Submission is done online at Canvas.
- Off-Campus Tasks: The Department of Education's policy stipulates that one (1) credit hour is reflective of a workload that reasonably corresponds to no less than one hour of in-class time and four hours of independent study per week throughout a semester. Therefore, students must review and study all classes according to the professor's instructions. WASC has similarly endorsed a comparable guideline.

Academic Honesty (Artificial Intelligence -AI)

IVC values critical thinking and communication skills and considers academic integrity essential to learning. Using AI tools as a replacement for your own thinking, writing, or quantitative reasoning goes against both our mission and academic honesty policy and will be considered academic dishonesty, or plagiarism unless you have been instructed to do so by your instructor. In case of any uncertainty regarding the ethical use of AI tools, students are encouraged to reach out to their instructors for clarification.

Course Policies

- A student who fails to attend the first meeting of a class or does not complete the first mandatory activity of an online class will be dropped by the instructor as of the first official meeting of that class. Should readmission be desired, the student's status will be the same as that of any other student who desires to add a class. It is the student's responsibility to drop or officially withdraw from the class. See General Catalog for additional information and details.
- Regular attendance in all classes is expected of all students. A student whose continuous, unexcused absences exceed the number of hours the class is scheduled to meet per week may be dropped. For online courses, students who fail to complete required activities for two consecutive weeks may be considered to have excessive absences and may be dropped.

Absences attributed to the representation of the college at officially approved events (conferences, contests, and field trips) will be counted as 'excused' absences.
