Course Description

This is an introductory course in the study of past and present indigenous societies of the US Southwest and Northern Mexico. Theories of early migration into the Americas and into the Greater Southwest will be discussed, as well as early archaeological and ethnological research on the geography, environmental adaptation, settlement patterns, architecture, and arts and crafts of ancient indigenous societies such as the Sinagua, Salado, and Patayan societies. Greater emphasis will be placed on discussing present Native American social structures among the Pueblos, Navajo, Apache, and Hopi, among others, including contemporary customs, traditions, art, languages, and religious beliefs. Moreover, students will critically assess the intersection of race, class and gender in the US Southwest and Northern Mexico, and the myriad ways dominant state ideologies on either side of the US-Mexico border continue to impact everyday life. From this perspective, students will discuss how struggle, resistance, social justice, solidarity, and liberation, as experienced by Native American communities, are relevant to current issues. Course Requirements and Instructional Methods

The Department of Education policy states that one (1) credit hour is the amount of student work that reasonably approximates not less than one hour of class time and two (2) hours of out-of-class time per week over the span of a semester. Because this is a three-credit course, students should expect to invest a minimum of nine hours per week.

Students are assessed through a combination of discussion posts, short essays, quizzes, and exams. Active student participation is an important component of the final assessment. The following is a break-down of course requirements:

- Discussion posts (readings) (25 points): Students will complete 5 discussion posts worth 4 points each based on the course readings for the corresponding week. To ensure maximum points, it is crucial to provide at least one quote from the readings (with page numbers). After publishing the discussion post, students are expected to read through posts and provide a constructive comment worth 1 point each to at least one colleague. Discussion posts must be 150 words minimum and posted by 11:59pm on Thursday; comments must be 50 words minimum and posted by Friday at 11:59pm.

IMPERIAL VALLEY COLLEGE

- Contemporary Culture and Society posts (45 points): Students will complete 9 posts worth 4 points each highlighting contemporary issues, challenges, celebrations, or social movements central to indigenous peoples today. Each post must include the URL of online content such as news articles, academic papers, documentaries, policy documents, etc. on our course Padlet (accessible via Homepage) and include a 150-word analysis emphasizing its relevance and any important connections to the readings. After publishing the contemporary post, students are expected to read through posts and provide a constructive comment worth 1 point each to at least one colleague. These contemporary culture and society posts must be 150 words minimum and posted on Padlet by 11:59pm on Thursday; comments must be 50 words minimum and posted by Friday at 11:59pm.
- Quizzes (90 points): Students will complete 9 quizzes worth 10 points each that assesses their engagement with the readings in short essay responses. Quizzes are restricted to Paths of Life and Native Peoples of the Southwest, therefore absolutely no outside sources are permitted. It is crucial to provide quotes, concrete examples, and page numbers from these books. Without quotes and page numbers, quiz responses will not earn available points.
- Ancient Southwest Exam (25 points): Students will complete an exam at the end of Module 1 on the distant history of the Southwest. This exam is timed (3 hours) and is based on the book The Archaeology of Ancient Arizona. It is important to have access to this book early in the course to study for this exam on Week 6.
- Group Map Project (25 points): Students will work in small groups to complete a map of the US Southwest and Northern Mexico that displays the geographic location of at least 6 posts uploaded to Padlet. Students will begin this project at the start of Module 3 and will submit their work by the end of Week 16.
- Final Exam (40 points): Students will complete a Final Exam by Friday June 6th. The Final Exam is on the history, language, origin narratives, and traditions of indigenous people of the US Southwest and Northern Mexico. This is a timed (3 hours) exam based on the readings discussed this semester.
