Course Description

This course offers an introduction to Chicana/o studies as an academic discipline. It focuses on its origins, development, and theories that contribute to its formation. Furthermore, it analyzes and evaluates Chicana/o perspectives on revisionist history; demographics; employment; political and socioeconomic trends; education; and the arts. This course will also examine, compare and contrast, such topics as cultural values, social organization, urbanization patterns of the Chicana/o in the U.S., migration, identity and gender roles, and their struggles in education, politics, and legislation. Due to the nature of the subject, students will be exposed to some Spanish phrases, words, and expressions. (Formerly HUM/SPAN 262) (CSU/UC) (Formerly HUM/SPAN 262) (CSU/UC)

Student Learning Outcomes

Upon course completion, the student will have acquired new skills, knowledge, and or attitudes as evidenced by their ability to:

1. Research, analyze, and identify cultural values and contributions of Mexican Americans to the United States through writing.
2. Research the contributions of Chicanos in the United States.
3. Analyze a literary and/or cultural text written by a Chicano author.

Course Objectives

By the end of the course, students will be able to:

1. Demonstrate knowledge of Chicano role in United States history from an interdisciplinary perspective.
2. Explain the Chicano Movement, its goals and evolution, with emphasis on traditions, values, and customs.
3. Critically analyze Chicano migration and immigration in the Western Hemisphere.
4. Analyze and articulate concepts that are foundational to the field of ethnic studies, including but not limited to, race, racism, racialization, anti-racism, ethnicity and culture, settler colonialism, decolonization, equity, imperialism, power, liberation, sovereignty, self-determination, Eurocentrism, insurgent knowledges, and white supremacy.
5. Critically analyze how race and racism intersect with ethnicity, class, gender, sexuality, religion, spirituality, national origin, immigration status, tribal citizenship, sovereignty, language and/or age to shape life chances and social relationships in Chicano/Latinx communities.
6. Describe how struggle, social justice, solidarity, and liberation are experienced by communities of color are relevant to current issues.
7. Apply theory to describe critical events in the histories, cultures, and intellectual traditions of communities of color, with a particular emphasis on agency and self-affirmation.
8. Describe the intersection of race and ethnicity with other forms of difference affected by hierarchy and oppression, such as class, gender, sexuality, religion, spirituality, national origin, immigration status, ability, and/or age.
9. Describe how resistance, social justice, and liberation as experienced by communities of color are relevant to current issues (communal, national, and international).
10. Demonstrate active engagement with issues of race and ethnicity to build diverse, just, and equitable communities beyond the classroom.

Textbooks & Other Resources or Links

The required text for the course is an Open Educational Resource (OER), so you do not have to spend money to purchase the book.

Avendaño, Fausto, R. Bacalski-Martínez, David Ballesteros, et al., The Chicanos: As We See Ourselves (University of Arizona Press: Tucson, 1979).

Course Requirements and Instructional Methods

INSTRUCTIONAL METHODS: Students earn grades by completing learning activities, writing assignments, quizzes, and Discussion Boards. In addition, students will complete weekly reading assignments and bring questions to class to participate in instructions to achieve learning objectives and excel in the course.

QUIZZES: Students will complete ten quizzes throughout the course to help them learn course content and ensure they keep up with required reading assignments. Quizzes include multiple choice, fill-in-the-blanks, true/false, short answers, and/or essay questions.

DISCUSSION BOARD ACTIVITIES: To facilitate course discussions, students must participate and complete Discussion Board assignments on reading assignments and learning activities. Students will first respond to a prompt and then to two classmate responses.

IMPERIAL VALLEY COLLEGE

CHAPTER REVIEW: Students will write one review on a text written by a Chicana/o author. Students will select from the required course text, The Chicanos: As We See Ourselves.

RESEARCH FINDINGS: AN ARTFUL REPRESENTATION: Students will complete research that identifies and analyzes Mexican American cultural values and contributions to the United States. Students will build upon knowledge gained through the curriculum using academic sources and original thought to produce an artful representation of their research findings.

Course Grading Based on Course Objectives

The following percentages from completed assignments determine the final grade:

- Quizzes 45%
- Discussion Board Activities 25%
- Chapter Review 15%
- Research Assignment 15%

Grading Scale:

- A (90 – 100%)
- B (80 – 89%)
- C (70 – 79%)
- D (60 – 69%)
- F (50 – or lower)

Accessibility Statement

Imperial Valley College is committed to providing an accessible learning experience for all students, regardless of course modality. Every effort has been made to ensure that this course complies with all state and federal accessibility regulations, including Section 508 of the Rehabilitation Act, the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), and Title 5 of the California Code of Regulations. However, if you encounter any content that is not accessible, please contact your instructor or the area dean for assistance. If you have specific accommodations through DSPS, contact them for additional assistance.

We are here to support you and ensure that you have equal access to all course materials.

Communication Policy (Canvas Messaging System)

Students can reach me through our Canvas messaging system if they need to contact me. Please do not use a private or IVC student email for communication. I will respond within 24 hours or less, excluding weekends. If you email me and are still waiting to receive a reply within that timeframe, please resend the original message and notify me of your second attempt.

If a student sends me a Canvas email or Pronto message on a Friday, I will reply on Monday. Additionally, if a student contacts me about an assignment the day before or on the due date, I will respond after the due date. Therefore, it's crucial to communicate with me earlier in the week to ensure timely assistance.

Please understand that our curriculum is rigorous and demanding. Therefore, timely communication will help students complete their assignments. I will provide students with ample feedback to support a stellar grade.

When students use Canvas to message (or any IVC professor), it is essential to use proper punctuation, capitalization, spelling, and grammar. Additionally, always begin an email with an appropriate salutation (e.g., Dear Dr. Chávez). Professional communication and etiquette are seldom taught in college, so I understand how stressful it can be to send the first email.

Please read this article for tips to help you write a relevant email and get answers--Quiz 1 will test whether you read the article.

Students are required to regularly check Canvas for weekly announcements, updates, reminders, or changes. Additionally, since grades are posted as they are scored on Canvas, all students will have direct access to their grade book.

In addition, I will post comments on all graded assignments, so please check Canvas frequently for comments on assignments to improve your grade. You are responsible for reading comments and applying those improvements to your next assignment.

Attendance and Drop/Participation Policy

A. First-Week Attendance & No-Show Drops:

Students who do not log into Canvas or complete the required first-week assignments will be dropped from the course as a “No Show.” To remain enrolled, students must complete all first-week assignments on time. If a student is dropped as a “No Show” and requests re-enrollment, they must follow the same rules and expectations as any other student joining the course. This includes catching up on missed work and adhering to all course policies. It is the student’s responsibility to drop or withdraw from the course officially. Please refer to the IVC General Catalog for withdrawal policies.

B. Ongoing Attendance & Participation Expectations:

After the first week, students must actively participate by completing weekly Discussion Board Activities, Canvas Quizzes, and other assignments designed to assess their understanding of course material. Students should check Canvas daily to stay updated on deadlines and important information. Consistent participation is essential for both in-person and online classes. A student may be dropped due to excessive absences if any of the following occur:

- Failure to access Canvas for two consecutive weeks.
- Failure to complete the required first-week assignments.
- Failure to complete three successive assignments.

If a student experiences challenges that affect their participation, they should reach out as soon as possible. I am here to support your success!

C. Online Attendance Policy:

Students must participate in all online required activities. Students who are absent due to a college event or medical issue must provide proper documentation.

D. Online Activity Policy:

Students who fail to complete one week of assignments—whether missing, incomplete, or not meeting the required criteria—will be dropped from the course due to lack of participation. Active engagement in all weekly activities, including discussions, quizzes, and assignments, is required to stay enrolled. Regular participation helps ensure students stay on track with course material and meet academic expectations.

E. Policy Compliance with Title 5 Regulations:

My attendance policy follows the California Code of Regulations, Title 5: Attendance itself cannot be graded, but course credit is based on the required number of instructional hours. Missing excessive class time—whether in-person or online—means that a student has not fulfilled course requirements and may be dropped. Missing one week of Summer intersession instruction is equivalent to missing two weeks of a term semester.

Active participation, preparation, and engagement are critical to your success in this course. Let's work together to make this a productive and rewarding term!

Late Assignment Policy

Students will always have access to our course modules and assignments, so please ensure that assignments are submitted on time. All due dates are posted on our course syllabus and Canvas, so students must check Canvas daily. If any circumstances affect your performance, please let me know in advance so I can make the necessary accommodations. Assignments will only be accepted on time.

Netiquette or Online Etiquette and In-Class Behavior Policy

Netiquette, short for internet etiquette, encompasses proper manners, behaviors, and decorum in the digital realm. It consists of rules for appropriate online conduct that students must adhere to. Please be mindful of the following: avoid sarcasm and use proper language; respect others' opinions and privacy; acknowledge and return messages promptly; do not use ALL CAPS or multiple exclamation marks to communicate with your classmates; most importantly, respect your instructor's attention and instructions to assist you in successfully completing the course.

According to IVC policies, all students must respect their classmates and instructors when communicating. If you need assistance, please get in touch with me. I am here to support you. Violation of this policy will be reported to the Campus Disciplinary Officer for disciplinary action.

Plagiarism (Academic Integrity) Policy

Academic honesty in advancing knowledge requires that all students and instructors respect one another's work's integrity and recognize the importance of acknowledging and safeguarding intellectual property.

There are many different forms of academic dishonesty. The following kinds of honesty violations and their definitions are not meant to be exhaustive. Instead, they are intended to serve as examples of unacceptable academic conduct.

- Plagiarism is taking and presenting as one's own the writings or ideas of others without citing the source. You should understand the concept of plagiarism and keep it in mind when taking exams and preparing written materials. If you do not know how to "cite a source" correctly, you must ask for help.
- Cheating is defined as fraud, deceit, or dishonesty in an academic assignment, using or attempting to use materials, or assisting others in using materials that are prohibited or inappropriate in the context of the academic assignment in question.

Anyone cheating or plagiarizing will receive a zero (0) on the assignment. The instructor may report the incident to the Campus Disciplinary Officer, who may place related documentation in a file. Repeated acts of cheating may result in an F in the course and/or disciplinary action. Please refer to the General Catalog for more information on academic dishonesty or other misconduct. Acts of cheating include, but are not limited to, the following: (a) plagiarism; (b) copying or attempting to copy from others during an examination or on an assignment; (c) communicating test information with another person during an examination; (d) allowing others to do an assignment or portion of an assignment; (e) using a commercial term paper service.

Artificial Intelligence (AI) Policy

Artificial Intelligence (AI) tools are prohibited. IVC values critical thinking and communication skills and considers academic integrity essential to learning. Using AI tools as a replacement for your own thinking, writing, or quantitative reasoning goes against our mission and academic honesty policy and will be considered academic dishonesty or plagiarism unless you have been instructed to do so by your instructor. In case of any uncertainty regarding the ethical use of AI tools, students are encouraged to contact their instructors for clarification.

AI tools, such as Grammarly or ChatGPT, are strictly prohibited. These tools are not allowed and undermine the integrity of the work. Using unauthorized AI tools in coursework violates IVC's Artificial Intelligence (AI) Policy. This policy prohibits using AI to complete assignments, exams, or any other academic work unless explicitly allowed by the instructor. Violating this policy can lead to academic penalties, including potential disciplinary action.

Every submission that requires students to write will undergo review by our Turnitin program for AI detection. If your submission is identified through AI detection, it will receive a grade of 0 with no opportunity for resubmission.

Turnitin and Similarity Scores

Our Canvas Turnitin program will review every student submission. If a submission receives a similarity score of 25% or higher, it will automatically be given a score of 0. This policy emphasizes the importance of submitting original work and avoiding plagiarism.

All in All: Cheating, Plagiarism, and Artificial Intelligence (AI)

Anyone cheating, plagiarizing, or using AI will receive a zero on the assignment. In addition, the instructor may report the incident to the Campus Disciplinary Officer, who may place related documentation in a file. Repeated cheating may result in an F in the course and disciplinary action. Please refer to the General Catalog for more information on academic dishonesty or other misconduct.
